TURKS ARE AWAITING DECISIONOf Allies Engaged in Drafting Note Rupturing Peace Negotiations

STAY OF HOSTILITIES

For 15 Days is Promised—
Mutiny is Said to Have Broken Out Among Turkish Troops.

London, England, January 27.—The drafting of the note rupturing peace negotiations was begun this morning by the allies. The committee in charge expect to complete the note before tonight and submit it to the Bulgarians, Greeks, Montenegrins and Serbian delegations.

However, even if the Balkan allies were anxious to resume hostilities which it is currently reported they are not anxious to do, at least 15 days must elapse before the guns can begin to roar.

Even if the draft is completed tonight its revision will take some time and the final draft could not be presented to the Turkish delegation and to Sir Edward Grey, as honorary president of the peace conference before Wednesday.

As it is understood the note will give the Turks delegates three days in which to answer. The expiration of that time would come on Sunday, so that the Turkish reply would not be delivered before Monday.

Constantinople, Jan. 27.—Three of the regiments at Tchatalja are likely to go to the Turkish capital to endeavor to bring about the re-establishment of Kiamil Pasha's cabinet. The ambassadors of the powers are reported to have said that they do not recognize the present cabinet, and have asked for a prompt response to the note of the powers.

Hakki Pasha has definitely refused the portfolio of the foreign ministry and it has been offered to Prince Said Halim, who is expected to accept. Said Halim is an Egyptian prince.

London, Jan. 27.—The representatives of the Balkan states at the peace conference here held a special meeting Sunday afternoon and decided that negotiations looking to a settlement of the Turkish-Bulgarian war which have been pursuing their deplorable way toward final disagreement for more than a month, should be broken off at once. This decision means a resumption of the war within a few days, unless Turkey should request more time for deliberation.

Yesterday's meeting of the peace representatives, which was the first held on Sunday, created a considerable stir in such parts of official life as heard of the session.

They did not meet in their usual place, St. James Palace, but by prearrangement met at the Hyde Park Hotel.

The meeting lasted an hour and a half and ended with a brief announcement that the delegates had decided to break off the peace negotiations with Turkey and to appoint a committee to carry the decision into effect.

The committee, it is expected, will be named today and will at once send word to the Turkish delegates. The committee did not state the length of time they would wait to hear any further request from Turkey.

The rupture in the negotiations which generally is believed to be final, would have happened Saturday, it is learned, but the Serbians are awaiting instructions from Belgrade. These instructions, it is understood, reached London during the night and the Serbians were at once placed in position to join with the other allies in terminating the negotiations.

With the war party now in power in Constantinople, it is not believed that Turkey will ask for any further negotiations, as the recent court order in the Turkish capital was brought about by objection to the yielding of Adrianople, the point on which the allies all along have insisted.

Previous to the separate meeting of the Balkan delegates word had been received from Thrace that the allies were preparing for a strong offensive campaign against Adrianople and Tchatalja. The Bulgarians it is said, plan to attack these two points, with the possible addition of the Gallipoli Peninsula. If the latter is assailed, however, Tchatalja will be the final object of the operations. The Greeks then plan to force the Dardanelles and make a great assault on Constantinople. While the Greeks are operating from the Dardanelles, the allies, it is understood, will attempt to force the south end of the Tchatalja lines.

WHAT ABOUT THE YOUNG MEN?

By Chalmers L. Prescott.

You business men who refuse to join the Board of Trade, don't you realize this: Every business man in Newark should unselfishly appreciate the fact that a younger generation of men is coming into the business affairs of the city, and these young men should be aided in every way by example and by making for them a good city in which to live and engage in business?

along the seacoast, with the fire of the Greek warships to aid them.

A detachment of Servians will be sent to aid the Montenegrins in the campaign against Scutari. It is known at this time that Janina is being approached by 50,000 Greeks in semi-circular formation. The Greeks have never signed the armistice, and have continued operations almost constantly for the past month. The prevailing winter weather is in the Turks' favor, but despite this the Greeks seem to be making considerable progress.

The meeting Sunday lasted for an hour and a half, and the course to be followed was given earnest consideration.

Two distinct views were manifested—one for the immediate rupture of the negotiations leading to a resumption of war and the other favoring a temporary policy in order to avoid irrevocable steps. The latter course triumphed and a committee was appointed, consisting of one member from each delegation.

General lines were laid down on which the note is to be drafted, comprising the arguments already set forth many times as to why the league demands the surrender of Adrianople and the Aegean Islands as an indispensable condition to the conclusion of peace.

That the policy of the allies is to gain time is patent and does not deceive any one. The delegates decided that the advantages to be derived from the resumption of hostilities would be in proportion to the risks they ran and that they would not take that step unless forced to do so. It is realized that even a partial reverse would have grave moral and material consequences, apart from the loss of thousands of men.

In addition, the fact is not overlooked that there is danger of Roumania advancing from the rear and of Austria imposing on Serbia and Montenegro her conditions for remaining neutral. The only disadvantage in delaying decisive action is in keeping large armies inactive and on a war basis for a long time, thus heavily taxing both the financial and agricultural resources of the countries.

It is reported that Roumania has made the offer to Bulgaria to put 50,000 men in the field against Turkey. The price is the same strip of territory previously demanded for Roumania's neutrality, but Bulgaria has again declined emphatically.

Uncensored Constantinople dispatches received in London confirm the previous accounts of the revolt against the government and the shooting of the war minister, Nazim Pasha.

The dispatches add little to the details already known, but state that the autopsy on the officers killed disclosed that the bodies bore larger wounds, as well as bullet wounds, thus throwing doubt on the assertion that the killing was unpremeditated.

According to the Daily Mail, the Balkan ultimatum to Turkey will give four days' grace to enable the powers to devise any possible means to bring pressure upon the Porte.

The Mail also says that Colonel Jostoff chief of the staff of the third Bulgarian army before Tchatalja, who is now acting as military adviser to the peace mission, will leave London for the front today.

All the powers, including Russia and Austria, have given assurance that hostilities shall be limited to the Balkan states and Turkey.

A dispatch to the Times gives further details of the death of Nazim Pasha, the commander-in-chief of the Turkish army, who was shot and killed last Thursday night.

As Enver Hali and Djemal Beys, followed by Talaat Omar, Nadji and Midha Beys, accompanied by other leaders of the committee of Young Turks, burst into the palace, Nazim Pasha came out of the council chamber. On seeing Enver Bey, Nazim Pasha exclaimed:

"What is this impertinence?"

"The impertinence is yours," replied a former officer, Mustafa Nadji, who fired on the commander-in-chief three times.

Three bullets struck Nazim Pasha, who fell dying. His aide, Tewfik Bey, dropped, shot through the head. Nazim Bey, aide to the grand vizier, quickly shot down Nazim's assassin and then fell himself from a shot.

The outside guard, on hearing the shots, wavered. A soldier leveled his rifle at Enver Bey, but the order to fire was not given. The commander's guard came in too late and was bluffed into silence by a cool-headed officer among the conspirators.

The Constantinople correspondent of the Daily Telegraph learns that a contract has been signed under which the Ottoman government will obtain an advance of $10,000,000, to be reimbursed out of the next loan in connection with the new concession for the Metropolitan railways of Constantinople.

DARROW TRIAL
STARTS TODAY

Los Angeles, Jan. 27.—The second trial of Clarence Darrow on charges of jury bribery was resumed today, with prospects for the completion of the jury before night. Two places remain to be filled.

FIVE YEARS IN PEN FOR BANK HEAD

Washington, Jan. 27.—The supreme court today declined to interfere with the five-year penitentiary sentence imposed upon J. Ross, former president of the Trust Guaranty and Title Company of Portland, Ore., convicted of larceny of state educational funds in his bank during the panic of 1907. The trial court, in addition to five years imprisonment, imposed a fine of $567,832.40, or an alternate confinement in the county jail amounting to 750 years. The supreme court of Oregon had set aside the fine and alternate fine as excessive.

THE CABINET
STILL BUSY

Washington, Jan. 27.—Following the announcement in a New York newspaper that William Jennings Bryan is to be the premier in the cabinet of President Wilson, persons here who are close to the New Jersey statesman, give it out that other positions are to be filled as follows:

Henry A. Morgenthau, of New York, secretary of the treasury; Representative Albert S. Burleson of Texas, secretary of agriculture; Representative A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, attorney general; Josephus Daniels of North Carolina, postmaster general.

Former Senator Obidiah Gardner of Maine, secretary of the interior. Just how far these tentative selections for cabinet positions made by Governor Wilson will suit the political leaders in Washington remains to be seen. Speaker Clark is noncommittal on the subject, though he has discussed different names with Governor Wilson.

House Democratic Leader Underwood is openly in support of Representative Henry D. Clayton, a fellow Alabamian, for the attorney generalship.

EXPLOSION SHAKES
NUMBER OF HOUSES

Paris, Jan. 27.—A terrific explosion of dynamite early today shook houses for a mile or more around the church of St. Sulpice, in the southern part of Paris. A great fissure was opened in the Rue de Sevres and the electric surface lines were destroyed, but no person was seriously injured. The police believe the explosion was due to construction men recently discharged.

BURY BODY OF
FIRST ADMIRAL OF AMERICAN NAVY

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 27.—With simple but impressive ceremonies the body of John Paul Jones, first admiral of the American navy, yesterday was placed in its final resting place in the crypt under the naval academy chapel.

Secretary of the Navy Meyer, French Ambassador Jusserand and Governor Goldsborough were among those present.

The body was escorted by a brigade of 700 midshipmen.

BECOMES GOVERNOR OF TENNESSEE TODAY

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 27.—Benj. W. Hooper, the second Republican who has held the governor's office in Tennessee since reconstruction days, was inaugurated for his second term today. In his address the governor said: "Every progressive movement undertaken in behalf of the masses has suffered from the interference of self-seeking demagogues, when its success became greater or its success apparent. Such has been the case with the present progressive movement in this country. It has generated radicalism."

THREE MEN LET OUT IN STATE
FIRE OFFICE

Columbus, O., Jan. 27.—Three heads fell yesterday in the state fire marshal's office. They were Charles Herzer of Paulding, David B. Sharp and Samuel Davis of Columbus. The three announced that they had been fired because they might hurt Mr. Zuber's chances for reappointment.

John W. Zuber's selection as state fire marshal is among the recess appointments which were withdrawn by Governor Cox.

Mr. Sharp is an attorney. He has opened offices in the Harrison Building.

SUFFRAGETTES GATHER

In London From All Quarters of Great Britain
—Big Demonstration
Occurring Today.

London, Jan. 27.—More than 2000 uniformed officers, detectives, secret service men and private body guards today defended members of the cabinet and protected government buildings from assaults by the militant suffragettes, who have gathered in great numbers here from all parts of the United Kingdom for the biggest demonstration since the fight for votes for women began.

A cabinet meeting was held before noon with Premier Asquith presiding, at which the situation was canvassed. Before this meeting began reports were current that the government had decided to drop the franchise bill because of the possibility that the Gray amendment providing for woman suffrage might be affixed.

The house of commons is expected to vote on the Gray amendment this evening.

Inspector McCarthy of Scotland Yard, made elaborate plans for the protection of Premier Asquith. Had London been filled with assassins, the precautions could not have been more elaborate.

One hundred mounted policemen patroled parliament square keeping a wary watch for women with hatchets. Downing street swarmed with detectives.

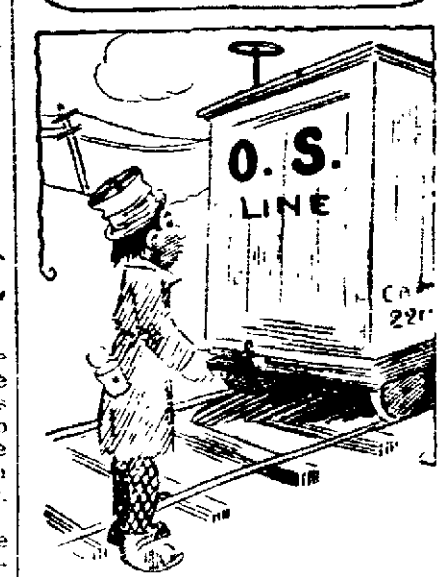

"We feel that we have been tricked by the government and we have lost patience," said Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, leader of the violence squad. "We have given the government every opportunity to study the merit of our plea but they continually resort to subterfuge and refuse to meet us in the open."

"Sir Edward Grey and David Lloyd George, respectively foreign minister and chancellor, have been converted to our cause but this gives us little encouragement, so long as the ruling members of the cabinet contribute to hoodwink us."

WILL RAISE LICENSE ON THE SALOONS

Columbus, O., Jan. 27.—Because approximately 2000 saloons will be put out of business and the state liquor revenue decreased about $600,000 a year, Governor Cox today called upon State Treasurer Brennan for data that will help him work out a bill to meet the deficit and make the various liquor commissions proposed by the legislature self-supporting. The governor's contemplated plan is to charge applicants for a license more than $1000, now paid under the Dow-Alken law, and thereby make up the deficiency.

COLUMBUS SUNDAY DISPATCH
COMPLIMENTS CITY OF NEWARK

The Columbus Dispatch which upon several occasions within the past year has referred editorially to the work of Newark's commercial organization, again complimented Newark in its Sunday edition January 26th by publishing in conspicuous form an account of some of the things that have taken place in this city. The story appeared under the caption "Newark Blots Out Stain of Rioting With Big Reforms." In part the Dispatch says:

Columbus' vigorous little neighbor, Newark, has made the unfortunate riot and lynching that caused her to be spoken of disparagingly two years ago, the beginning of a cleaning up and general reform, of civic betterment and physical and financial improvement that, with the entire new record she made in dealing out justice to the rioters, has attracted attention all over the nation and called forth commendation as strong as was the blame heaped upon her when the riot occurred.

With the sentencing of S. A. Holler, one of the rioters, to a 10-year sentence, suspended, the last chapter of the noted riot was written on December 22. The lynching occurred on the night of July 8, 1910. The county joined hands with the state in the investigation and by vigorous work on both sides, over 30 of those indicted for complicity in the crime have been convicted. The last man to be tried disappeared after the lynching and was only recently arrested. His arrest was due to his efforts to care for his six children who had been deserted by their mother. He had been a saloonkeeper and in consideration of his interest in his children and on condition that he never again engage in the saloon business, the heavy sentence was suspended.

A Record of Reform.

The fact that Newark was able to do this, to turn squarely around and subordinate the disorderly element that had gradually been getting control of the city government, is due in large part to the work of a few influential men who set their minds to it.

As president of the Newark Board of Trade, Mr. C. H. Spence has just made a report that sets forth in a succinct manner the achievements of his city in the twenty-eight months that have passed since the riot. It was presented at the annual meeting of the board last

CONGRESSMAN ASHBROOK
GAINS OHIO'S FULL SHARE
FOR PUBLIC BUILDINGS

Washington, Jan. 27.—About $1,500,000 for new public buildings and sites in Ohio is carried in the omnibus bill soon to be reported to the House of Representatives. The subcommittee in charge of Ohio's appointment completed its report Saturday and the Buckeye State's share of the "pork" will measure up better than almost any other.

Representative William A. Ashbrook of Johnstown, Ohio, is a member of this subcommittee, and did most effective work for his state. The report contains these items for Ohio:

Coshocton, $15,000 building and site; Van Wert, $70,000; Washington

Court House, $80,000 building and site; Sidney, $70,000; Elvira, $100,000 building and site; Fremont, $100,000; Middletown, $100,000; Martin's Ferry, $50,000 building and site; Kenton, $50,000 building and site; New Philadelphia, $12,500 site; Gallipolis, $75,000 building and site; Wilmington, $70,000 building and site; Logan, $70,000 building and site; Dayton, $50,000 additional site; Dayton, $50,000 additional for building; Toledo, $25,000 remodeling Government offices.

In addition to these amounts it is expected that the full committee will grant an appropriation of $400,000 to buy a site and construct a public building at Akron.

SEN. POMERENE
WILL OPPOSE
KENYON BILL

Washington, Jan. 27.—Although the Kenyon bill preventing the interstate shipment of liquor into prohibition territory is to be voted upon by the Senate on February 10, passage of the bill on that date does not mean that the measure will there after have an easy road through Congress.

The Webb bill, which is the House duplicate of the Kenyon measure, is still in the Committee on Judiciary and it is said that it is dubious whether the Webb measure will be reported favorably. The House committee will vote on the Webb bill probably some time this week.

Should the House committee vote adversely on the Webb bill, it would kill all the legislation of the sort during the present session, including the Kenyon measure, even if it is passed by the senate.

In that case, if the Kenyon bill were to come to the House it would be referred to the committee on judiciary where it would be pigeon-holed indefinitely.

The opinion in the House committee is said to be about evenly divided with a slight preponderance, if any, in favor of reporting the bill in committee has been upon its constitutionality. It is pointed out that the recent Democratic landslide wiped out the entire Republican membership of the next committee, with the exception of Judge Norris, of Nebraska, who has been elected to the senate to take his seat March 4.

Thus every Republican member is free to vote upon the measure as his conscience dictates, without regard to its political effect in his district.

Senator Pomerene has signified his intention of opposing the Kenyon bill, and is preparing a speech in which he will attack the measure on the floor of the Senate. The Ohio Senator has disregarded the advice of several of his friends in taking a stand against the bill, but he firmly believes it to be unconstitutional, and bases his attitude on that point.

While Senator Burton will not commit himself, it is known that he is still undecided which way he will vote. He has not made a close study of the measure. He has not made a close study of the measure but he has been talking with senators who have.

WAITERS LOSE
OUT IN STRIKE

New York, Jan. 27.—From appearances at the big hotels today, the strike of the waiters is off. Many of the former employees reported for work this morning and some of them were given their old places. A few of the strikers are still holding out, and some of the smaller hotels are surrounded by pickets.

We do most of our blushing for the mistakes of our friends.

THINK OF TALKING TO 50,000,000 PEOPLE.

Nowadays a manufacturer can tell 50,000,000 people of the merits of his goods in a day. Compare this rapid spreading of merchandise news with the snail-like service of stage-coach days.

Today, manufacturers of worthy products advertise them to the nation through the columns of the daily newspaper.

It is through the advertisements which appear in THE ADVOCATE every day that manufacturers and merchants take you into their confidence. They tell you of the newest household conveniences, the best things to buy, and how to identify the most reliable goods from inferior kinds, how to "winnow the wheat from the chaff."

Read the advertisements in THE ADVOCATE closely and constantly every day and be guided in your purchases from your dealer by the messages from advertisers whose business is founded on the rock of integrity.

PLANS FOR ALL STATE
OFFICESGov. Cox Would Make

WANT ANOTHER HOLIDAY

Clevelanders Petition Governor to That End—Liquor License Code the Chief Legislation.

Columbus, Jan. 27.—For the purpose of gathering aid in his proposed plan of making regulatory departments of the state self-sustaining, Governor James M. Cox today requested several state officials to furnish him information concerning the cost of maintenance. The governor plans to have a bill introduced in the legislature which will serve to make each regulatory department collect sufficient revenue to cover the cost of its maintenance. Urging that February 12, Lincoln's birthday, be made a holiday, in Ohio, more than one thousand Clevelanders today petitioned Governor Cox, urging official action to that end. The petition will be referred to the legislature.

With the first bill passed at this season going into active operation today—the anti-lobbyist law—the present week, it is expected, will witness the first grind of real work of the present general assembly.

Many of the members of both houses, in addition to the regular committee, attended the funeral in Toledo today of the late Representative Lawrence F. Conway, who died Friday, but a full quorum and more of members, it is expected, will answer to the roll call in both houses when they convene late this afternoon.

In addition to an interesting calendar in both branches of the assembly during the week, there will be two public hearings which will overshadow regular routine. These are the house judiciary hearing on Tuesday morning, at which consideration of the bill introduced by Representative Herbert Bigelow, proposing to repeal Cincinnati street railway franchise will be resumed, and the hearing on the proposed liquor license codes before the house and senate committees on temperance, which will be held on Tuesday night.

The state administration's saloon license bill is at present a piece of white paper. It will not be drafted until after the final public hearing tonight before the senate and house committees to which the three pending license bills have been referred.

Several conferences have been held, but none of the provisions of the new bill has been definitely determined. The only provision of which there is positive assurance is the adoption of the state board plan as set forth in the web bill.

One of the most important bills of the house, pending for the week is the sale-by-weight bill of Representative John R. King of Franklin county. By stipulating that food sales must be by weight unless a contrary agreement be made in writing, it makes easily enforceable the Thomas bill, which has been a dead letter because dealers when arranged for violating the law could assert there had been an implied verbal agreement.

The Ohio Association of Retail Grocers is strongly for the bill, and has endorsed it. So is State Food Commissioner Strader, who is a Democrat, and who collaborated with Representative King in framing this and companion bills governing sales of food stuffs.

GEN. SICKLES GIVES
BAIL FOR $30,000

New York, Jan. 27.—General Daniel E. Sickles, of Civil War fame, was technically placed under arrest at his Fifth Avenue home this afternoon and immediately released under $30,000 bail. He is charged by the state with responsibility for the shortage of $23,478 in the funds of the New York monument commission.

FILES NOTICE
WITH U. S. COURT

Washington, Jan. 27.—The government filed with the U. S. Supreme Court notice of opposition to the plea of the hard coal roads for modification of the decree holding the so-called 65 per cent contract illegal. Only one contract, that between the Pennsylvania Coal Company and the Elk Hill Coal and Iron Co., is the government willing to have accepted.

The table was attractively centered with roses and greenery, where covers were placed for the following: Miss Zink, Mrs. Robbins Hunter, Mrs. Fenwick Ewing, Mrs. Harrington Davis, Mrs. Roderic Jones, Mrs. Clark Hatch, Mrs. F. E. Corkwell, Mrs. Frank Bolton.

About two hundred of the Newark girls were present at the reception at the Y. W. C. A. Sunday afternoon. And from the hours of two-thirty till five-thirty everything was done to make the young ladies feel at home in their new quarters and also to become acquainted with the officers of the Association. The program which appeared in Saturday's Advocate was carried out with credit to all those that appeared on the list. Following the program the High School orchestra rendered several selected numbers followed by talks from the hostesses Mrs. W. W. Gard, Mrs. J. R. Fitzgib-

by Barbara Boyd

Wise and Unwise Generosity

AN unexpected accident prostrated a workman, and as he was the kind who rarely save anything, his family were in need. He had a wealthy brother, and so the wife wrote to the brother, stating their trouble and asking for aid.

The brother was a generous sort and he immediately sent a check for a hundred dollars, feeling, as he did so, a glow of virtuous satisfaction at his generous deed. In fact he felt so supremely at peace with the world on account of what he had done, that for several days he was in an unusually amiable frame of mind, and everybody about him basked in the glow of good will and kindness that radiated from him as the result of this warming up of his heart.

The hundred dollar check had an equally exhilarating effect on the sick man's family. They very seldom saw a hundred dollars, and it seemed to them an enormous amount. They immediately felt that everything they wanted was now within their reach. And they sallied forth on mame, except the father, laid up with a broken leg, and made a raid upon the shops. And acting upon the principle of the small boy who ate his dessert first, so that if anything was left it wouldn't be pie, they bought first the things they had always wanted, and afterward, the commonplace necessities.

As a result, the hundred dollars dwindled like the iceman's souvenir on the doorstep of an August day. And before they knew it, the money was gone, necessities had been but sparsely provided, and a long stretch of incapacity for work still lay ahead of the bread-winner.

Nothing was to be done, but in the course of a few weeks, to make another appeal to the generous brother.

But this time, as the saying is, he went up into the air. There was no quickly written check. There was no genial glow at the heart. Instead there was a sense of injury. "They must take me for an easy mark," he growled, and wrote them a pointed letter to the effect that he was not their banker. And as before, though with very different results, his family and friends felt the effects of his state of mind. Even the cat avoided him.

When his letter arrived, consternation filled the sick man's home. What was to be done? At last, a letter was sent to an uncle, also wealthy, who it was hoped, though of more distant kin, would be touched by their need.

This man knew the family and their failings. He wrote a letter in which he said he would give five dollars a week for several months. He didn't feel any particular glow at his heart, nor consider that he had done a very generous thing. Five dollars a week does not seem a very large sum, though in the end, it would probably amount to more than the other had sent.

And when the family found they had only five dollars a week, they put their heads together and planned carefully to make it stretch. They were as heedless as ever, for they were the kind who never learn. Had he sent a hundred dollars, they would probably have spent it as recklessly as the other hundred. But here was only five. It must be used judiciously.

Which was the wiser generosity? Which man was truly the most generous? Was not one giving partly for the pleasure he got himself from doing a good deed?

Was not the thoughtful, self-controlled giving the more helpful?

Barbara Boyd.

BENNY'S POP MAKES

AN EXPLANATION

Willyum, sed ma to pop aftr supper tonite, you havent told me yet how you happined t kum hoam so late last nite without yure hat.

So I have, I meen so I havent, sed pop, well, ill tell you, I sed id tell you and ill tell you, ha, ha, ha, it sertenly was funny the way it happined, ha, ha.

I like funny things to, sed ma, tell me and we will laff together.

Dont get kawstick, sed pop, or I wont tell you at awl, but it sertenly was funny the way it happined, ha, ha, ha, lets see, wat was I up to.

You hadent startid yet, sed ma, you were jest up to the 2d ha, ha. That so, I thast I had startid to tell you, sed pop, well, as I was saying, it sertenly was funny the way it happined, ha, ha, are you lisening.

Yes, I'm lisening, sed ma, but I kant say im hearing much.

Next to branes, payments is the noblist of the virtues, sed pop, ware was I.

You still hadent startid yet, sed ma.

O yes, sed pop, well, you see, it was really to funny the way it happined, ha, ha, ha, I was wawking alawng, jest wawking alawng, you no, wen the funniest thing happined, wat do you think it was.

I give it up im sure, sed ma.

It was the funniest thing, ha, ha, ha, sed pop, an old man with lawng wite hare startid to go past and awl of a suddin his hat bloo awl and the old fello coodent katch it.

Is that supposid to be funny, sed ma.

No, not that part of it, sed pop, no of korse not, that was rathir pathetick, of korse, the poor old fello with his wite hare streamng eround in the wind, the funny part is wat happined to the hat, wat do you think happined to it.

Im not thinking sed ma.

It disappeared, sed pop, thats wat it did, it disappeared, izent that funny?

Verry, sed ma.

And of korse I coodent bare to see the old fello standing there in the kold without eny hat, sed pp, so wat did I do, wat did I do but take awl mine and give it to him, put it rite awn his hed, I did, and I sed, Heer old fello, I sed, you need it moar than I do.

How odd, sed ma.

Odd, sed pop, I think its the most ununil thing I evvir herd of.

The most ununil part of it, sed ma, is the fact that about an hour befor you caim hoam last nite a messenijr boy rank the bell and handid me yure hat, saying it had bin fownd aftr a party in sum rathskeller or utbir, and they noo whose it was by the naim in it.

The old man must of left it there, sed pop.

No dowt, sed ma.

DON'T STAY GRAY! SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR BEAUTIFULLY

Restores Its Lustre, Prevents Scalp Itching, Dandruff and Falling Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. While it is a messy, tedious task it will repay those whose hair is turning gray, faded and streaked.

Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred fold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use.

This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair and is the best thing known to remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Every body chooses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time which requires but a few moments.

Do this at night and by morning the gray hair has disappeared and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant.

It certainly helps folks look years younger and twice as attractive, says a well-known downtown druggist. Hall's drug store, 10 North Side Square, agent.

But is resting comfortably and getting along nicely.

The fact that talk is cheap is what makes it so expensive in the end.

This May Hit You

Your success depends more on what you do than who you are. That's the American of it. With a clear brain, steady nerves and a sound body, all things are possible. If coffee fogs your brain and shakes your nerves, isn't it "good business" to quit coffee and use—

POSTUM

Thousands of wide-awake people have taken the hint and use Postum instead of coffee.

"There's a Reason"

Postum is a pure food drink made of choice wheat and the juice of Southern sugar-cane, roasted and blended and is absolutely free from "caffeine" (the coffee poison) or any injurious substance. Sold by grocers everywhere.
